Apply to the Global Engagement Summit! April 8-15th, 2012

Are you a globally-minded leader who is passionate about social change? Are you looking for a space to develop your project, increase your knowledge of development, and connect with other like-minded peers around the world?

The Global Engagement Summit (GES) is a weeklong capacity-building conference for students committed to global change and social enterprise. Delegates come together to understand the challenges of and opportunities for their engagement; to hone the skills and mindsets that will enable them to better plan, execute, and participate in change-based projects; and to connect with like-minded peers from around the world.

The mission of GES is to build the capacity of the next generation of global change leaders. By providing tangible skills training and connecting driven students with innovative thought leaders, GES strives to empower students to make the change they wish to see in the world, and produce responsible solutions to shared global problems.
